

Fashion goes high-tech

- 1 A model walked down the runway during Paris Fashion Week in September with a clutch bag that changed colour from white to black, then to greyish gradations as it responded to her movements. The gradual colour change was generated by “electronic paper”, a high-tech display device used as one of the materials in the bag. It is just one of several fashion items to debut recently, featuring advanced digital technologies.

- 2 ...
- 3 ...
- 4 ...

The Straits Times, 2017

