

Climate calculations

In “ClimeApocalypse!” (Skeptic), Michael Shermer draws on the widely criticized work of Danish political scientist Bjørn Lomborg to conclude that climate change is not a large concern when compared with poverty and global health.

This is 3; few global issues we face are of greater consequence to the poor and to all living creatures on the planet than climate change. Without immediate, large-scale action, global water supplies, agriculture, disease rates and extreme weather will have profound negative consequences on all of us.

RAFAEL REYES
San Mateo, Calif

Scientific American, 2014